CAREER MATCHMAKER & AFTER HIGH SCHOOL GOAL

The first question students will be asked is "What would you like to do after high school?". This question helps to filter your matches. "Not Sure Yet" is also an option for those who are still on the path of figuring out their first steps after high school.

CAREER MATCHMAKER can be found on the ABOUT ME page
Click GET STARTED to start the 39-question quiz.
Once you select an answer Xello does not allow you to go back and make changes until the quiz is completed.

PERSONALITY STYLE QUIZ

Xello's Personality Style assessment is the second phase of the Matchmaker assessment. Your answers in the 28 question Personality Style quiz fine-tune your career matches from the first Matchmaker assessment and match you with careers that are popular for professionals with the same personality styles.

How to Access the Personality Style Assessment

In order to begin the Personality Style assessment, you must have already completed the first phase of Matchmaker.

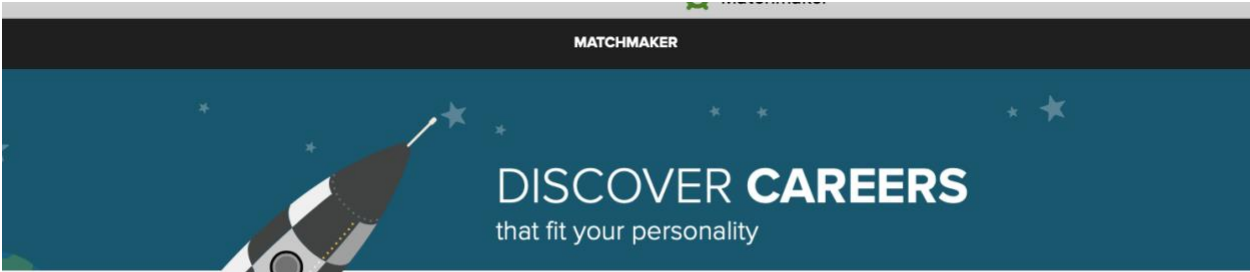

Personality Style Quiz can be found on the ABOUT ME page.
Click GET STARTED to start the 28-question quiz.

The screenshot shows the 'About Me' page in Xello. At the top, there are navigation tabs: 'About Me', 'Explore Options', and 'Goals & Plans'. Below this is a 'CAREER MATCHES' section with five cards: 'Automobile Salesperson' (Excellent Match, $20,000 - $80,000), 'Recording Engineer' (Excellent Match, $25,680 - $117,600), 'Music Director' (Good Match, $21,000 - $109,000), 'IT Support Specialist' (Good Match, $31,220 - $105,770), and 'Musician' (Good Match, $10,000 - $100,000). Below the career matches are three main sections: 'PERSONALITY STYLE' (What careers suit your personality?) with a 'Start the Quiz!' button; 'LEARNING STYLE' (What skills do you want to develop?) showing 40% Auditory, 35% Visual, and 25% Tactile, with a 'View Results' button; and 'SKILLS LAB' (What skills do you want to develop?) with a 'Get Started' button. Below these are 'AFTER HIGH SCHOOL...' (My Goal More School or Training) and 'FAVORITE CLUSTERS' (Health Science / Transportation, Distribution & Logistics). At the bottom is the 'EXPERIENCES' section with tabs for Work, Volunteer, Education, and Life, and an 'Add Experience' button. Below the experiences section are 'SKILLS' (Communication), 'INTERESTS' (Interior Design), and 'PLACES' (Where have you and your family lived?).

Click on Start the Quiz

Answer 28 questions. The quiz does not allow you to change any answers until after you complete all the questions. At that point you can then edit your answers.

ORGANIZER

Persuaders enjoy influencing, leading, and managing people. They often like working in positions of power. Persuaders usually have to make tough decisions and take risks. They may also like to give speeches, lead groups, and sell things or ideas.

PERSUADERS ARE...

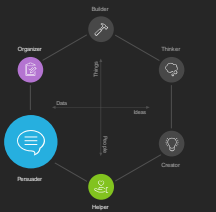

- ! Assertive
- ! Energetic
- ! Confident
- ! Ambitious
- ! Adventurous

PERSUADERS USUALLY LIKE...

- ! Managing
- ! Deciding
- ! Strategizing
- ! Selling
- ! Motivating

PERSUADERS VALUE...

- ! Influence
- ! Leadership
- ! Risk-taking
- ! Achievement
- ! Initiative

WHAT IS A PERSUADER?

Persuaders are skilled at convincing people to do things their way. They are often in charge of leading a team. They like taking the initiative on projects and making sure they are a success. Persuaders know how to organize and supervise the work to be done. They are often great at public speaking. Some of them promote and sell products or ideas. They tend to thrive in a business setting that allows them to take some risks.

WHAT MAKES ME A PERSUADER?

As a persuader, you probably like the idea of having power and influence over others. When you have a project, you enjoy taking on the role of team lead and making decisions. You're good at meeting new people and making a strong first impression. Arguing your point of view comes naturally, and you often win debates. Maybe you'd like to create business plans that make money. Or, perhaps the thought of giving a speech that motivates others gives you a rush.

WHERE DO PERSUADERS WORK

Persuaders seek out careers in which they must convince and motivate others. They often choose to work in fields such as:

- ! Business
- ! Management
- ! Sales
- ! Politics
- ! Law
- ! Leadership

WHAT IS THE HOLLAND MODEL?

The Holland Codes can tell you about your personality style. People can display the traits of one or more of these six personality styles:

Builders like to use tools and machines to repair and install things. They are practical and good at using their hands.
Holland Code: REALISTIC

Thinkers like to research and solve complex problems. They are logical and curious, and invent theories they try to prove.
Holland Code: INVESTIGATIVE

Creators like to design, write, paint, and perform. They value intuition and imagination, and enjoy expressing their ideas.
Holland Code: ARTISTIC

Helpers like to care for, counsel, and teach people. They value cooperation and connection, and they are good listeners.
Holland Code: SOCIAL

Persuaders like to make decisions, motivate and lead people, and take risks. They are natural influencers and managers.
Holland Code: ENTERPRISING

Organizers like structure and order in their work. They are good at working with data, files, lists, and little details.
Holland Code: CONVENTIONAL

THE HOLLAND CODE

Each personality style tends to have certain interests, values, and traits. But, many people display traits from more than one personality style. You might have the traits of mainly one Holland Code, or you might have a combination of traits from two or three. Most careers can also be mapped to the Holland Model. Knowing your personal Holland Code can help you seek out a career that you enjoy and find fulfilling.

Of course, the Holland Model can't tell you exactly what career to choose – you have to do that yourself! Think of this assessment as a starting point to discover careers. It will give you some insight into the kind of work you might be good at, what you value as a worker, and what you might like to do on the job.

Once the Personality Quiz is completed you will be able to see your results based on the Holland Career Development Model. Your results contain information about your personality types. At the bottom of the webpage, you will see careers that align with your personality types.

After you complete the Personality Style quiz you can see how your results relate to a career on each Career Profile page in Explore Options (Module 3)

Early childhood educators care for and teach infants, toddlers, and preschool children. They play a key role in shaping these young children's futures.

JOB DESCRIPTION

You may not remember your first few years of life, but they influenced who you are today. The people who took care of us back then also affected who we are now. When you think about it that way, early childhood educators have very important jobs.

Early childhood educators are called ECEs for short. They work with children in nursery schools, daycares, and similar settings. Most ECEs work with children aged 2 to 5. Some daycares take children up to 10 years old in after-school programs.

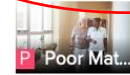

ECEs must know how children develop on a mental, physical, social, and emotional level. They are trained to design games and activities that are both fun and educational. They know how to treat children based on their age.

ECEs teach young children a variety of things. They teach them how to read and why they should share. They teach them not to hit others and how to deal with anger. Teaching these life skills requires different strategies and techniques.

ECEs must be creative and resourceful. They plan activities that help children develop and build self-esteem. They also must be able to keep them interested and motivated. They organize daily routines that help kids feel comfortable and secure.

ECEs often use arts and crafts in their classroom. These projects help to bring out children's creativity. Art

WORKING CONDITIONS

Early childhood educators work in:

- nursery schools
- preschools
- daycare centers
- community centers
- recreational facilities

Some start their own child care businesses. Many ECEs work full time, about 40 hours a week. Those who work for daycare centers may work longer hours, starting early in the morning and ending late at night. Most daycare centers are also open in the summer, while schools are not. Directors of daycares may work 10 or 11 hours a day. They often have extra administrative duties to finish before they can go home.

ECEs care for many children at once. They have to watch children in the classroom and outside in the playground. Caring for toddlers involves helping them eat and brush their teeth. They also help toddlers go to the washroom and wash their hands. ECEs who work with children with a disability have even more hands-on duties.

EARNINGS

ECEs can be employed by a variety of businesses. They typically work full time and are paid hourly. Some ECEs are self-employed and run their own business.

In general, ECEs make between $8 and $16 an hour. This means that full-time workers can make up to about $33,000 a year. Assistants earn the lowest wages.

Preschool educators earn between $10 and $26 an hour. Their median wage is $14 an hour. This adds up to about $20,000 to $55,000 a year, with a median of $29,000 a year.

Supervisors and directors can make anywhere from $14 to $41 an hour. This adds up to a range of about $30,000 to $85,000 a year.

Earnings for ECEs depend on many factors. These can include their experience, education, employer, and location. ECEs who work for large daycare centers will make more than those who work for smaller organizations. ECEs with a college degree will make more than those with just a high school diploma.

Earnings for self-employed ECEs depend on the hours they work and how many children they look after. They might have to market themselves to find children to care for.

Some full-time ECEs will receive benefits, such as health coverage and paid vacation days. Those who are self-employed must provide their own benefits. These educators may have a side job to make more money.

EDUCATION & TRAINING

Each state has its own requirements for entering this field. Some states require ECEs to have special education or training. Other states don't require you to get much training. Most employers prefer to hire those who have been trained or certified.

In most states, you need at least a high school diploma. You might also need an associate or bachelor's degree. You can study early childhood education or child development. Depending on where you live, you might need to get both education and child care experience. Supervisors and directors must complete extra training.

Some states require ECEs to be certified as a Child Development Associate (CDA). The Council for Professional Recognition offers this designation. You need at least 120 hours of child care training and 480 hours of experience. The National Child Care Association (NCCA) also certifies ECEs.

It is helpful to take a course in first aid and CPR. In fact, some employers require you to have this training. Fire safety and child abuse prevention training are also recommended. You are usually required to show proof of immunization and have a police records check.

Do you want a school that pays tribute to the past while planning for the future? Consider applying to Oakland University (OU). This school in historic Rochester, Michigan, has a lot to offer.

Meadow Brook Hall is a National Historic Landmark. It's the foundation of OU and a reminder of its history. But the hallmark of this school is really its forward-looking research facilities. The campus boasts more than 100,000 square feet of research space! It's a designated doctoral research university. But you can be part of research as early as your freshman year.

The research centers at OU include the Clean Energy Research Center, the Eye Research Institute, and the OU Center for Autism. As an incoming student, you'll see that this is a school of opportunities.

You can select from more than 130 bachelor's degrees at OU. With that much choice, you're sure to find a major that suits you. If you don't, OU has a unique Bachelor of Integrative Studies (BIS). This option lets you customize your own degree. If you want to strive even further, you can apply to the Honors College.

Of course, there's more to your college experience than academics. That's where the Student Program Board steps in. They plan all kinds of fun and exciting events, both on and off campus. Bubble soccer tournaments and concerts are just a couple of examples. OU is also home to more than 200 student-run clubs and groups. You'll have plenty of chances to keep busy after class.

Michigan is a great place to live and learn. The state offers outdoor activities for all 4 seasons. Rochester is a small town with stunning architecture, cultural events, and lots of parks. OU is a school for high achievers, and it sets students up for success!
